2017 call for nominations

Max Planck-India Mobility Grants

for
Junior scientists/postdoc and junior faculty

Deadline 15 September 2017

The Max Planck Society provides specific strategic measures to boost its collaboration with India by means of Max Planck-India Mobility Grants. Max Planck-India Mobility Grants provide funding for short-term visits of young Indian Scientists to Max Planck Institutes over a period of four years.

Qualifications
Qualified, promising Indian postdocs (so-called ‘young faculty’ in India) who are already able to demonstrate a recognisable scientific profile are eligible to be nominated for Max Planck India Mobility Grants. Nominees should have obtained their doctorate no longer than four years ago (for a doctorate in medicine: no longer than six years). A prior period as a guest at a Max Planck Institute is not a necessary precondition. Scientists who are awarded these grants must spend a minimum of one month per year at a Max Planck Institute.

Funding:
The hosting Max Planck Institute will receive €3,000 per year for four years out of MPG central funds and will use this to cover travel costs (flight costs and local travel), accommodation costs, per diem, and consumables for the Mobility Grant Holder.

Application documents will be sent electronically on request.
