

IMAGES: KATRIN BINNER (TOP LEFT), MIA COLLIS FOR THE MPG (TOP RIGHT), GETTY IMAGES / UNIVERSAL HISTORY ARCHIVE (BOTTOM LEFT), PICTURE ALLIANCE/DPA | ANTONIO COSSIO (BOTTOM RIGHT)

34 | CULTIVATED

Microorganisms are being harnessed to produce new antibiotics.

40 | ASSOCIATED

Mercy Akinyi aims to understand how health, the environment, and culture are interconnected.

48 | INCUBATED

Life may have originated in black smokers in the deep sea.

60 | ACCUMULATED

Millions of metric tons of clothing are thrown away every year – and often end up in the Global South.

CONTENTS

03 | EDITORIAL

06 | ON LOCATION

Red-Light District, Amsterdam

08 | IN BRIEF

14 | VIEWPOINT

Quo Vadis, Bafög?

20 | INFOGRAPHIC

Drivers of Polarization

FOCUS

Therapies for Tomorrow

22 | A Metronome for the Heart

Precise understanding of cardiac arrhythmias is paving the way for gentler therapies.

28 | Digital Help is Coming!

Apps can complement psychotherapy for mental health conditions.

34 | Germ-Free

In the search for new antibiotics, reprogramming the metabolism of microorganisms is key.

40 | VISIT TO

Mercy Akinyi

46 | DOUBLE TAKE

KNOWLEDGE FROM

48 | Life's Primordial Brew

Life on Earth may have originated in hydrothermal vents and received a chemical boost from space.

54 | Patterns of Encounter

A research project was examining Muslim-Jewish encounters in European cities – then came October 7, 2023.

60 | Fashion for the Future

Statutory regulation could set the course for a sustainable fashion industry.

66 | Gaps in the Blockchain

Decentralized databases, which are also used by cryptocurrencies, are not as secure as is generally assumed.

72 | POST FROM ...

Beijing, China

74 | FIVE QUESTIONS

On Surveillance Technology in the US and Germany

75 | PUBLISHER'S INFORMATION