MaxPlanckResearch seeks to keep partners and friends of the Max Planck Society up to date. Four editions of the magazine are published in German each year, all of which are translated into English. At present, the English version has a circulation of 10,000 copies (MaxPlanckForschung: 65,000 copies). It is free of charge. None of the views and opinions expressed in MaxPlanckResearch may be interpreted as representing the official views of the Max Planck Society and its associated bodies. MaxPlanckResearch is printed on paper bleached without chlorine. Reprint of texts is permitted if source is quoted. Photographic rights may be granted by agreement.

The Max Planck Society for the Advancement of Science comprises 80 research facilities with some 13,400 staff, including around 4,900 scientists. In addition to this, about 12,100 scholarship holders, guest scientists, and doctoral candidates joined the Max Planck Society in 2008. The annual budget for 2009 is calculated in total at 1,300 million euros. Research activities of the Max Planck Society focus on basic research in natural sciences and the humanities. The Max Planck Society is a non-profit organization registered under private law as an incorporated association. Its central decision-making body is the Senate, with members from the world of politics, the scientific community, and the professional public, providing for a well-balanced partnership.
